

The screenshot shows the Jira project creation interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with various icons and a search bar. Below it, the main content area is titled 'You can change these details anytime in your project settings.' and includes a note '*indicates a required field.' The 'Name' field is a text input containing 'Demo'. The 'Template' section displays a 'RECOMMENDED' template named 'Process control' with a description 'Jira Work Management' and a sub-description 'Track activities and tasks for recurring processes.' A 'More templates' link is visible. A 'Show more' link is also present. A 'Create project' button is at the bottom right. A modal window titled 'Demo' is open, showing a list of team-managed projects. The modal has a table with columns for project name, status, and color. The projects listed are DEMO-1 through DEMO-7, each with a corresponding status and color indicator.
